

Social, Moral, Spiritual & Cultural Development

At Bader our Change Maker school vision will be tightly embedded in building skills and harnessing personal development of young people. This is best shown in how we plan to deliver a highly effective SMSC offer both within and beyond the formal curriculum

The pupils will get to know their own locality well because of the way the intent of the curriculum accommodates it. Special attention will be given to the local community with Bader Academy being proactive in involving itself with community events. In addition, there will be excellent opportunities provided for our pupils to get to know about many other cultures, focusing on the similarities and differences

Pupils will be supported to have a deep understanding about each aspect of spiritual, moral, social and cultural development. The spiritual aspect will be considered in all aspects of learning with a specific focus on 'awe and wonder'. Pupils' social and moral development will be enhanced through the promotion of excellent learning behaviours and ensuring that pupils know right from wrong from an early age. Cultural development will form an extremely important part of the curriculum intent.

Adaptable

Bader Academy will be extremely proactive in finding out about the talents that pupils possess outside school. Certificates, medal, etc. from these activities form part of Bader Academy's achievement assemblies. We will keep a specific register of pupils' achievements outside school and whenever possible encourage these pupils to display or share their talents with others at school.

Change Makers

The curriculum intent will be extremely effective in ensuring that the context of pupils will be taken into consideration. This will look beyond the taught subjects. There will many opportunities for pupils to study other cultures which differ from their own. The KS1 curriculum will be especially strong in aspects relating to pupils' social and moral development.

Positive

The curriculum will provide pupils with an excellent opportunity to study other cultures and religions. There will be a strong emphasis on respect. Whenever possible, Bader Academy will invite members of different cultures to talk to pupils about their way of life and explain why they have certain traditions. If Bader Academy has members from different ethnic minorities on role then they will be encourage to explain to their peers about their celebrations and traditions.
